

The Saint Books

An overview

The two book series indexed here are only indirectly related to each other. In each case the books were issued by the company that was then publishing The Saint Mystery Magazine. However, the magazine had changed hands between the two series, including a year's hiatus between the two publishers. The two constants over the magazine's history were the editorial direction of Leslie Charteris and the direct editorship of Hans Stefan Santesson. The publisher of Great American Publications was given as Henry Scharf in issues of The Saint Mystery Magazine. Presumably the ownership of Fiction Publishing Company would be revealed by later statements of ownership, but all the sets available to me are sparse enough that I have not encountered one.

The indexing of each series presents its own problems. The Saint Mystery Library are almost all anthologies. The volumes list Leslie Charteris as the editor of the series, which I have stretched to give him credit as editor of the individual volumes. The Saint Novels were all reprints of previously published Saint books, all by Leslie Charteris. Obviously an author Index of the book titles for either series would have only one author: Leslie Charteris. Thus I have dispensed with that level of Author Index and produced a combined Author Index, containing both the book titles and the contents. The book titles are printed in italics. The usual citations for prior publications of the books didn't fit into this format, so I annotated them into the Numerical Listings instead. Since the same altered format was being used for both series, the decision to index them together was inevitable.

I was fortunate in being able to examine all the volumes in both series. I am indebted to Jerry Boyajian for locating the ads for The Saint Novels in his run of The Saint Mystery Magazine, which provide approximate dating for that series.

Most of the books are anthologies, but three late volumes contained only novels. 15 of the stories and one novel were new; the remainder were reprints. Most of the stories had previously appeared in The Saint Mystery Magazine, either as originals or reprints. One is tempted to assume that the new stories were drawn from the magazine's inventory, but the introduction to #128 mentions that one of its stories was rejected by the magazine but was bought for the anthology series, where it was felt to be a better fit.

The books were issued in pairs, from September 1959 to March 1960. The publication dates as given in the Copyright records look screwy, but if correct the earliest ones would coincide with the publication of the first issue of the magazine under Great American.

The books are numbered from 118 to 131 on the covers and spines, but are also numbered 1 to 14 on the inside pages; the latter numbers are given in parentheses in the numerical listing. All citations use the numbers on the outside of the books since those are the most conspicuous.

All the books contain cover credits. All 14 covers appear in the Bookscans database.

SAINT NOVEL

Publisher: Fiction Publishing Company, (30 East 42nd St.), New York 17, NY
Distributor: K[able]
Format: tall
Price: 50¢

The full street address only appears in the occasional back pages ads.

The Introductions noted are all new, making apologies for the antiquated style of the early books and explaining/defending certain cultural attitudes of the 1920's. The texts are assumed to be complete, although nothing was so stated on the books themselves; I have not bothered to check them.

Although the books are all undated, approximate months of issuance can be inferred from ads in The Saint Mystery Magazine. They were clearly issued in pairs, between (approximately) January 1964 and March 1965. The dates in the numerical list below have been annotated with the cover date of the issue in which the volume is first advertised as "now on sale." The issues dated through July 1964 were published one month earlier than their cover dates, after which the cover dates were "advanced" by an additional month. There were no issues dated September or November 1964 or February 1965.

All the covers are photographs, stills of Roger Moore from The Saint TV series that was then airing. I have not bothered to note them in the Artist Index. All 14 covers appear in the Bookscans database.
